Target audience

- You will need at least an upper intermediate to advanced level of English (B2)
- Teachers who have a strong wish to learn about British culture in a direct, experiential manner
- Teachers who teach British culture to young adults and adults
- Teachers who wish to update their English based on real life models of the language

Course summary

The course offers an opportunity for data and information collection on British culture and an update on current English usage. You will be learning about present-day British life, language and culture through direct encounter. We aim to provide you with an exciting, inspiring and authentic course that would not be possible for you to experience in your own country. Classroom training will be supplemented by guest speakers from different sectors of local society. This course also provides a large amount of English practice throughout.

Programme of the training activities

- Issues of class and gender in British society
- Youth culture
- Authentic modern English
- Changes in education and their effects on parents, teachers and children
- The changing world of work
- UK facts and figures
- The shadow side of English culture, crime, subculture and the poor
- Stereotypes of Britain and the British - how true are they?
- Multiculturalism in Britain
- The relation between language and culture
- Political correctness
- UK humour

Description of training content:Preparation

Each applicant needs to send a Teacher's Profile 4 weeks before the course outlining hopes and objectives for achievement as a result of attending this course.

Objectives

This course aims to increase your awareness of present day British culture while offering you the opportunity to practise your own English.

Expected results

As a result of attending this course, the participants will gain a wider understanding of key issues in teaching culture in an ELT setting. They will also become more competent and confident users of English.
